HAND WASH STATION - BLUE

Formit's double handwash stations are the ideal solution for hand sanitation across agriculture, food service, aged care, construction, child care, events, public spaces and any other situation that requires staff and the public to be washing their hands at regular intervals.

Featuring an extra-large basin, with foot pump operation, it is the ideal solution for minimising the spread of germs and bacteria that are common in many industries and are easily spread through hands and standard taps.
